Why do we have a Code of Conduct?

Dear colleagues,

Our company values – customer focus, entrepreneurship, team spirit, passion, and integrity – define how we strive to work for the benefit of our colleagues, our customers, and the society in which we operate.

Based on these values, the Code of Conduct defines principles and guidelines for our behavior – firstly for all of us as employees, secondly for our collaboration with customers and other stakeholders, and thirdly for our company as a corporate citizen and our impact on the world we live and work in. The code is complemented by our global and local policies and regulations.

Applying the principles of the code in our daily work is a key prerequisite for our license to operate, and herewith lies at the heart of our success as a company.

I encourage everyone to take good note of our Code of Conduct and to seek advice or to raise questions or concerns related to the code at any time with your manager, local HR or Group Legal. Together, we protect our collective well-being and the good reputation of our company.

Integrity

Our passion

Our passion for cocoa and chocolate goes hand in hand with employee safety, product safety and product quality. Our Code of Conduct provides the guiding principles to do the right thing. It outlines the regulations and company policies that apply in all work situations, without exception.

In accordance with our company values, the Code of Conduct empowers us to serve as an ambassador of integrity within our roles and responsibilities. We encourage everyone to help prevent, detect, and respond to any violations of the Code of Conduct which sets the framework for sustainable growth and our passion for cocoa and chocolate.

Employee safety

The safety of our people comes first.

We are committed to a safe workplace and recognize that we all have a responsibility to protect our safety and wellbeing, and that of our colleagues. We comply with all internal safety measures and will speak up, correct, or report to a manager, when we notice situations when safety is at risk.

Product safety and quality

We all have a fundamental responsibility to ensure that customers and consumers can trust the safety and quality of our products.

We comply with relevant food safety laws and standards, and we follow the hygiene and safety regulations at our plants and workplaces.

We take action and immediately correct, or report to a manager, any threat to product safety or quality.

Our employees

Workplace conduct

We conduct ourselves in a manner that is professional and appropriate at all times. We strictly adhere to our workplace policies and we are committed to keeping our work environment safe as well as smoke-, drug- and alcohol-free. We immediately correct, or report to a manager, any workplace incident and threats to employees' health or safety.

We treat people fairly, with integrity and respect at all times. No employee should be subjected to physical, verbal, sexual or psychological harassment. Workplace harassment is not tolerated.

We behave in a thoughtful way that does not offend, intimidate, degrade, insult or humiliate others. This includes jokes, banter, ridicule or taunts. We understand and act upon the fact that what may be acceptable to one person may not be to another.

We always assume our counterpart acts on their best of intentions, especially when we communicate via electronic channels or phone, where there's a bigger risk for misunderstandings.

Equal opportunities

We provide equal employment and promotion opportunities. We do not discriminate on the basis of gender, gender identity, religion, race, national or ethnic origin, cultural background, social group, disability or illness, sexual orientation, marital status, age or political opinion. We show respect for different cultures and religions in all our business practices and dealings.

We treat all colleagues equally, regardless of title or seniority level, and reach out to everyone in a respectful manner. We foster a culture of openness and encourage everyone to speak up.

Developing employees

We strive to provide employees with the chance to realize their full potential by offering development and training opportunities. Colleagues enjoy unique career opportunities supported by investments in learning and development.

For diversity to thrive, we are nurturing an inclusive environment where people can truly be themselves, grow to their full potential and feel like they belong.

Data privacy

The privacy of our employees and customers is very important to Barry Callebaut. We protect the integrity of everyone who entrusts us with their personal data and collect, retain, use or transmit personal data in compliance with applicable law. Wherever possible, we strive to apply the highest standards for data protection within our organization based on the European General Data Protection Regulation (Regulation (EU) 2016/679, hereafter "GDPR").

Confidentiality

We take great care to safeguard confidential information entrusted to us by Barry Callebaut or our customers and suppliers. Confidential information includes business secrets and other information such as data or knowledge about business figures, new products, recipes, R&D or projects, commercial or marketing strategies, investments, manufacturing processes, and internal policies and procedures. Employees are expected to practice discretion so as to avoid disclosing confidential information outside the office, in particular while traveling, in public areas or while using mobile phones or social media channels.

Insider trading

We do not trade in shares and other securities of Barry Callebaut on the basis of confidential, non-public information (inside information), and we must not disclose any such confidential, non-public information that may have an impact on the price of Barry Callebaut securities. Such inside information may include, but is not limited to, a change in the capital structure, a planned merger or acquisition/sale, financial results, and new product developments.

Our customers, suppliers and business partners

We demonstrate ethical business behavior in all our dealings with customers, suppliers and business partners. We strive to ensure that the expectations of our internal and external customers are always met.

Conflicts of interest

We avoid any situations where our private interests may conflict with the interests of Barry Callebaut.

We do not enter into relationships with customers, suppliers or competitors that might impair our judgment in our work on behalf of Barry Callebaut.

We do not hire relatives of employees to work in the same team or department, nor do we contract with relatives for consulting or other services.

While employed at Barry Callebaut an employee may not work for, or provide services directly or indirectly to a competing business, customer or supplier of Barry Callebaut.

Corruption and bribery

We strictly forbid engaging in corrupt practices with any party to advance Barry Callebaut's business interests. Corrupt practices include, but are not limited to, the authorization of direct or indirect payments of money, goods or services of value to local government officials, political parties or political candidates, or their friends or relatives, for the purpose of influencing the acts or decisions of government officials.

Corrupt practices also include the offering or receiving of any advantage to or from suppliers, customers, media or other private parties as an inducement to do something which is dishonest, illegal or a breach of trust, in the conduct of business.

Gifts, hospitality and entertainment

We do not solicit, encourage, extend or accept gifts, kickbacks, trips, hospitality, entertainment or other favors to or from existing or potential customers, suppliers or business partners, unless such favors are of insignificant value and do not influence our sound business judgment.

Fair competition

In all our relationships with customers, suppliers and competitors we avoid arrangements or actions which restrict fair competition. Employees shall not engage in any price fixing, bid rigging, allocation of markets or customers, or any other illegal anticompetitive practices.

Our responsibility

Approach to environmental, social and governance (ESG) concerns

At Barry Callebaut our values represent a mindset and way of doing business that is with the aim of generating sustainable growth over time and creating long-term value for all our stakeholders. We are dedicated to running all our operations with transparency and integrity, including reporting on our environmental, social and governance (ESG) management and risks. We always seek to understand issues of concern and respond accordingly.

Environmental responsibility

We strive to perform business in an environmentally responsible manner and are committed to comply with all applicable environmental laws and regulations.

We have a responsibility to protect the environment and biodiversity, and to reduce our carbon footprint.

As part of our commitment to protecting the environment we also have a responsibility to eliminate deforestation from our supply chain, promote forest regeneration and protection, implement agroforestry and biodiversity strategies in the areas we source from, and support farmers to develop cocoa farms that are more resilient to drought and disease, and that produce higher yields.

Human rights, forced labor and child labor

Our business has an influence on the livelihoods of many people around the world. We have a responsibility to all our stakeholders – farmers, employees, shareholders, customers, consumers, suppliers, and the communities where we operate.

Barry Callebaut observes the principles set forth in the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises, Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights. We strictly adhere to local laws regarding minimum age and other terms of employment in our factories and offices around the world. The minimum age for employment at Barry Callebaut is in accordance with the International Labor Organization (ILO Convention 138) or, if higher, the age specified by local legislation.

With respect to international and national child safeguarding policies and procedures we have a commitment to treating all children with respect through our actions and conduct.

We strongly condemn forced labor, slavery and all practices that exploit both adults and children or expose them to harmful or hazardous conditions.

Governance

Barry Callebaut is committed to a high standard of corporate governance. The principles and rules of corporate governance practiced by Barry Callebaut are laid down in the Articles of Incorporation, the Organizational Regulations of the Board of Directors and the Charters of the Board Committees. These are reviewed regularly by the Board of Directors and adapted as needed.

Reporting non-compliance

The best working environment is one built on mutual respect and trust. We want to continue to foster this kind of environment at Barry Callebaut. To do so, we must strive to be open and straightforward with all our colleagues – managers, team members and peers – in discussions about our values and matters that may impair the reputation and performance of our company. Upholding the principles of the Code of Conduct is the responsibility of each Barry Callebaut employee or contingent workers at Barry Callebaut.

We expect all employees and contingent workers to raise their concerns if they become aware of or suspect wrongful acts in violation of the Barry Callebaut Code of Conduct. In all cases, employees should speak directly to the individual involved, their direct manager, local HR, legal, or the Group Compliance Officer.

In cases employees feel insecure about making a report directly or via compliance@barry-callebaut.com, they should use Barry Callebaut's whistleblowing platform www.bcintegrity.com or use Barry Callebaut's "Integrity Line" telephone (for local toll-free telephone numbers please see www.bcintegrity.com)

In the event there is an allegation of child abuse which is committed by a third party not associated with Barry Callebaut, or by our implementing partners, associates, or visitors, we will immediately refer the matter to the local authorities and law enforcement.

Employees who report potential misconduct, or who provide information or otherwise assist in an inquiry or investigation of potential misconduct, will be protected against retaliatory action. We will also respect any request for confidentiality to the utmost extent possible.

Do the right thing!
